

Desert

There are 4 regions in the United States but I am just going to talk about the desert regions

The desert regions are the biggest land in the southern The desert is part of the Basin and the Range region. The desert is the hottest region. Also, it is the driest areas. The desert regions are divided into two basic parts, the Mojave and Colorado.

This is some facts about the desert region. I hope you like it.

Central Valley

Here is another region in California.

Central Valley is a fertile and rich area. A million years ago almost all of the pacific ocean covered almost all of the land. Most of the land sank when the mountains formed on the region.

Here is another list of facts about the Central Valley Region. In the 1800's Almost all of the water on the region was drained for farming. To this day Central Valley is now confirmed as a abundant area. A fact about the temperatures in Central Valley is that most of the time the temperatures in Central Valley is naturally dry but when its Winter, the landscape feels moist and cold.

So that is my information about Central Valley. I hoped you enjoyed listening to my writing.

The Regions of CALIFORNIA

Coast Region

There are redwood in the Coastal Region and more people live here and the beach is here and its not too hot or too cold. The people enjoy living there cause it like a natural city in santa cruz and los angles. California is popular for its gold and the population. The state animal is a bear. The Coastal Region is a place where the redwood trees go and a bunch of people live in california and the population is 35.million.

MOUNTAIN REGION by Zacharias

The california's mountains are amazing.The mountain region Is known for its rivers, waterfalls and forests.Temperature are very hot in summer time.Mount whitney is the highest point in the United States of south alaska.

California Regions